

Set Yourself Up For Success This Holiday Season

Black Friday. Cyber Monday. Christmas. Hanukkah. New Year's. As summer winds down, the holidays might seem far, far away. Yet in the world of shipping and online shopping, it's never too early to start preparing for the onslaught of sales.

Some 66% of consumers do their holiday shopping in September, October, and November. And almost half of this gift buying is completed online. So whether you're a retailer or wholesaler, it's important that your inventory is ready to go and that your supply chain is locked down long before those orders begin to roll in.

That's where Safe Chain can help. Partnering with a company that seamlessly manages the logistics of your picking, packing, and shipping processes can turn this holiday season into a more profitable period—and create results you'll notice year round.

Safe Chain Solutions' 3PL division has decades of logistics management experience. We use our proven methods not only to expertly handle peak volumes during the holiday season, but also to solve the logistics problems of our clients all year long. All while lowering overhead and streamlining costs for you.

Our logistics support services and related activities include:

- Temperature Controlled Warehousing
