

It's Not Too Late to Outsource Holiday Order Fulfillment

In fact, according to a recent article in Inc. magazine, outsourcing this responsibility is money well spent, and it frees up your time so you can focus on other vital company demands.

With decades of logistics management experience, Safe Chain Solutions uses our proven methods to expertly handle peak volumes during the holiday rush. Work with Safe Chain Solutions this holiday season and beyond to solve your logistics problems, streamline your fulfillment process, and lower overhead costs.

CASE IN POINT: Recently, Safe Chain was brought in to manage the logistics and supply chain for a start-up business marketing its own multivitamin tailored for those on blood thinners. The flood of orders for its product had quickly overwhelmed the two-man company, making order fulfillment unmanageable.

After assessing the company's needs, Safe Chain worked diligently to provide a seamless transition that didn't affect customers or orders. The key solution to the transition was to strategically monitor on-hand inventory levels at both the manufacturer's facility as well as Safe Chain's site during the initial phase. Once the initial phase was complete, all order fulfillment switched to Safe Chain's systems and warehouse with the push of a button.

Within a month, the start-up saw an increase in profits of more than 200%, which it contributed to the outsourcing of its order fulfillment function. The owners were able to give their full attention to other company issues, and also were able to move to a smaller office space that freed up additional capital for marketing.

Mr. J. Barch, co-founder of the company, said, "Without Safe Chain, there's no telling where we would be today. Their dedication and drive to help get you to where you want to be is unmatched in the 3PL industry."

Just as we did for Mr. Barch, Safe Chain can quickly set you up in a few simple steps.
